Reading

- 3 a Read the text quickly and match the headings in the box to the correct time of day.

Eat your dinner   Stretch
Think about a problem   Visit the dentist

A time for everything ...

What is the right time of day for your body to do everything?

Noon think about a problem

Your brain works best at around midday. It's a good time to talk to your boss about a problem or do a difficult crossword.

2 p.m. visit the dentist

Do you hate going to the dentist? Make an appointment in the early afternoon. You don't feel pain so badly at this time of day.

5 p.m. eat your dinner

Are you very hungry when you finish work? This is because food tastes better in the early evening. Eating late is a bad idea. After midnight it is more difficult for our bodies to process fat, and this can give you heart problems.

8 p.m. stretch

The best time to do exercise is around 8 p.m. At this time our body temperature is at its maximum, so our muscles are warmer.

- b Read the text again. Mark the sentences true (T) or false (F).

- 1 Your brain works best in the middle of the day. T
- 2 The best time to do a crossword is early morning. T
- 3 It's a good idea to go to the dentist between 1 and 3 p.m. T
- 4 Food tastes good in the early evening. This makes you hungry. F

AUDIOSCRIPT

Interviewer: So, how many hours do you sleep, Liz?

Liz: Not enough. I usually sleep about six hours on weekdays. That's why I'm always tired.

Interviewer: And you, Paul?

Paul: I get seven or eight hours sleep on weekdays. It depends what time I go to bed.

Interviewer: What about weekends?

Liz: Oh, I get more sleep at weekends – about ten hours. Sometimes I don't get up until lunchtime!

Paul: Really? I can't stay in bed that long. I usually sleep a bit less at weekends, about an hour less. Sometimes I try to stay in bed but then I just get up and start doing things in the house.

Interviewer: Did you know that ten percent of the population suffer from insomnia – when you can't fall asleep. Do you ever get that?

Paul: Yeah, sometimes. When I'm worried about work.

Interviewer: And you, Liz?

Liz: No. I don't usually have any problems falling asleep. Very occasionally, I can't sleep if I've drunk too much coffee.

Paul: Yes, drinking coffee is a bad idea.

Interviewer: And do you use an alarm clock to wake up in the morning?

Liz: Absolutely. Yes. I can't wake up without an alarm clock. In fact, I have two because I turn the first alarm clock off, and fall asleep again.

Paul: I don't need an alarm clock usually. Sometimes I use one if I have to get up very early, to catch an aeroplane or something.

Reading

- 5 Read the text. Mark the sentences true (T) or false (F).

eBay is an Internet webpage where people buy and sell almost anything at any time of day or night. Millions of people all round the world use eBay to find telephones and clothes, computers and cars.

How does it work? Imagine you want to buy a camera on eBay. You enter the keyword 'camera' and the type of camera you want. When you see the camera you like, you click on it to see a picture. If you decide you want to buy the camera you enter the amount of money you want to pay. This is called a bid. If your bid is the highest one, you get the camera. There is also a 'Buy it Now' price. If you pay the Buy it Now price, there are no more bids and you get the camera. The person who sells the camera sends it directly to you.

If it is easy to buy things on eBay, it is easy to sell things too. Lots of people sell their old computer when they get a new one. When children grow and their clothes are too small for them, parents often sell the clothes on eBay. In fact, you can sell anything you want. Some people even open their own 'eBay shop' where they sell lots of different things. The best thing about eBay? You don't have to be a computer expert to use it.

- 1 On eBay you can shop 24 hours a day.
- 2 If you pay the 'Buy it Now' price other people can continue making bids.
- 3 Selling on eBay is complicated.

AUDIOSCRIPT

Delia Smith is a famous British TV chef who appears on TV programmes. Before she was a chef she worked as a hairdresser and in a travel agency. When she was twenty-one, she started work in a small restaurant in London. In 1969 Delia Smith started to write for the Daily Mirror magazine. She also wrote in the newspaper The Evening Standard. Her first television show was Family Fare which she presented from 1973 to 1975 and another television series, Delia's How to Cook was a big success. She writes cookery books too. When Delia recommends ingredients on her programmes or in her books, these ingredients often sell more in supermarkets. Some people call this the 'Delia Effect'.

Reading

5 a Read the text and choose the best title.

- The Most Expensive Pizza in the World
- The Most Expensive Fast Food in the World.
- Very Expensive Food.

Fast food is normally fast and cheap. People don't want to pay a lot of money for a hamburger and fries or for a pizza, but there are some exceptions. Here is some of the world's most expensive fast food.

A restaurant in Glasgow, Scotland has a very expensive pizza. How much does it cost? More than two thousand dollars! What does this pizza have that other pizzas don't have? Well, the ingredients are very expensive and include small pieces of gold!

A lot of people prefer burgers to pizzas. So where can you buy a really expensive burger? Well, perhaps the world's most expensive burger can be eaten in Las Vegas. A restaurant there is selling a burger for five thousand dollars! It is made of the best Japanese meat.

And what about an expensive hot dog? Well, Germany is the home of the sausage so it is a good place to buy a hot dog. In a hotel in Berlin you can buy maybe the most expensive hot dog in the world. It costs two hundred euros.

And after the burger or pizza if you want to have ice cream you can go to a famous restaurant in New York and pay one thousand dollars for an ice cream. For this money you get a wonderful ice cream which comes with a gold spoon. You can take the spoon home after you finish eating!

b Read the text again and answer the questions.

Reading

- 5 Read the text and mark the sentences true (T) or false (F).

You've heard of a normal marathon? More than 42 kilometres running through a city. Difficult? Well, here's a more difficult race. The Kalahari Extreme Marathon is a marathon which is seven days long. The total distance of the marathon is about 250 km. But it's not just a long race, it's also a hot one. The marathon is in the Kalahari Desert in Africa. During the race temperatures can be very hot – in the day temperatures can be more than 40°C. At night it gets very cold, sometimes less than 5°C.

The race is normally around 250 km long but the actual distance changes every year – sometimes it can be longer. To make it more difficult for the runners, they only know the exact distance and where they are going to run the day before they start running. To do this marathon, runners need to be very fit. They also need to drink lots of water! Is this the most difficult marathon in the world?

- F 1 A normal marathon is longer than the Kalahari Extreme marathon.
- F 2 The Kalahari Extreme marathon is more than 42 kilometres long.
- T 3 You need seven days to run the Kalahari marathon.
- T 4 Sometimes it is hotter than 40°C during the race.
- F 5 Temperatures at night in the Kalahari are always more than 5°C.
- T 6 The runners know where they are going to run the week before the marathon.
- T 7 It is important for runners to drink a lot of water during the race.

The Most ...

This week in our series The Most ... we interview Will Sánchez, the star of Wild Survival! He's the man who goes to some of the most dangerous countryside in the world and has to survive in very difficult situations followed by a cameraman. Today he tells us about some of the extreme experiences he has survived in.

What's the most dangerous situation you've ever been in?

The most difficult situation has to be when I was filming in Colombia in the forest. I was climbing up a tree when the rope I was using to help me climb broke. I fell about ten metres before I hit a branch.

What is the most challenging countryside you have experienced?

The most challenging countryside was when I was in the Arctic Circle. Actually it's not really countryside at all. It's just snow and ice. And it's very, very cold.

What has been the most difficult thing you have had to do?

The most difficult thing I had to do was make a fire in the Arctic Circle. As I said it's very cold. But there is another problem: there isn't anything to make a fire with. In the end I did make the fire but it took a long time.

What is the most difficult situation to film in?

This is always when I am in water. It's very difficult for my cameraman, Scott to follow me in the water and to stay near me so that he can film what I am doing. And unfortunately, I'm jumping into water all the time!

- 1 Will Sánchez is a cameraman. F
- 2 When Will was climbing in Colombia, the tree broke. T
- 3 Making a fire in the Arctic Circle is difficult because there is not a lot of material to make a fire with. T
- 4 It's always easy for Scott to follow Will with the camera. F
- 5 Will is often in water in the programme. T

Lifelong learning | British and American English

- 1 a Underline the examples of American English vocabulary in the text.

I was standing in line in a fast food restaurant but I needed to go to the restroom. When I got back the line was really long so I had to wait for a long time. I started to think about what I was going to order: maybe a large hamburger with French fries and a big soda. I thought perhaps a cookie too. While I was in line my cell phone rang. It was my mum who was on vacation and had a problem. She was standing on the sidewalk because the car she was driving ran out of gas and she didn't know what to do. When I finished talking to her I finally got to the end of the line and I ordered my food. When the food came and I looked at the check I suddenly realised that I had left my purse in my apartment and I couldn't pay for all the food. I found two dollars in the pocket of my pants and I got a bag of chips instead.

Reading

5 Read the text about Ireland and answer the questions.

- 1 What is the first official language in Ireland?
- 2 How many parts is Ireland divided into?
- 3 Why is Ireland called the Emerald Isle?
- 4 When did Seamus Heaney win the Nobel Prize for literature?
- 5 Can you touch the ball with your hands when playing Gaelic football?
- 6 What is a sliotar?

Ireland is one of many countries where English is spoken, although the first official language of Ireland is Irish. The island of Ireland is divided into two parts: The Republic of Ireland and Northern Ireland which is part of the United Kingdom. Ireland is known as the Emerald Isle because the countryside is very green. It rains a lot in Ireland!

Irish culture

Irish music is famous all over the world. Perhaps the most important Irish groups are U2 and the Cranberries. Ireland also has a strong tradition of writing. Famous Irish writers include Samuel Beckett, W.B. Yeats, George Bernard Shaw and Oscar Wilde. All of these writers won the Nobel Prize for literature. Poet Seamus Heaney was the last Irishman to win the Nobel Prize for literature, in 1995.

Irish sports

The Irish love sports, including football, rugby and horse racing. There are two other traditional Irish sports which are very popular: Gaelic football and hurling. Gaelic football is played with a round ball like a football. In Gaelic football you can kick the ball but you can also catch it in your hands. In hurling the players play with sticks and a small hard ball called a sliotar. Both of these sports are very fast.

Friends of the World

Andrew Carnegie

1 Andrew Carnegie was born in Scotland in 1835. His family was very poor. When Carnegie was 5 thirteen years old the family moved to Pittsburgh in the US. He didn't finish his education, but a rich man called James Anderson gave Carnegie 10 books from his library. As a young man, Carnegie worked on the railway. He invested his money in business and made money quickly. In 1900 the company was producing twenty-five percent 15 of the steel in the US. There were no free public libraries in the US so Carnegie built 2,800 of them. He also gave a lot of money to charity. Finally he returned to Scotland, where he wrote several 20 books. He gave away ninety percent of his money and died in 1919.

George Soros

20 George Soros was born in Budapest, Hungary, in 1930. An intelligent young man, Soros went to England in 1947 and studied at the London School of Economics. Nine years later he went to the US. Soros started an international investment company and 25 became rich quickly. He understood international financial markets, and was called, 'the man who broke the Bank of England' when, in 1992, he earned $1.1 billion in one day. Soros created institutions to solve world problems in health, education, the media and human rights. These institutions cost $400 million a year. Soros now writes books about politics, economics and society.

Reading

1 a Read the text and choose the best title.

- Ten Ways to Live Happily
- A Long, Long Life
- Jeanne Calment's Lawyer

Jeanne Calment was born in 1875 and died in 1997. At 122 years old, she was the world's oldest person.

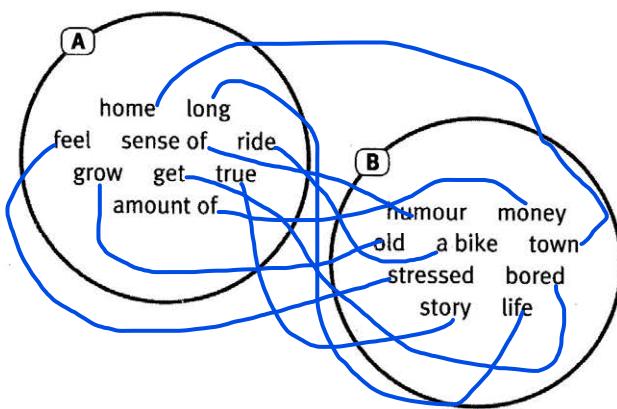

She was born in Arles and became a celebrity in her home town. Journalists asked her about the secrets of her long life. She told them she used to eat chocolate and put olive oil on her skin. But the truth, her doctor said, is that she never felt stressed. She once said, 'If you can't do anything about it, why worry about it?' She also had a good sense of humour. When one visitor said to her, 'Maybe see you next year,' she replied, 'I don't see why not. You don't look so bad to me.'

She used to ride a bike (she stopped when she was 100), and her mind was strong even after her body grew old. She said, 'I never get bored.'

The best true Calment story was about her house. When she was 90, her lawyer bought the house. He paid her only $400 a month, a very small amount of money. His plan was to get the house when Jeanne Calment died. But he died first, aged 77, after paying $180,000, much more than the house was worth!

- 1 A lot of houses didn't have telephones.
  - 2 Angie's mum used to wash clothes by hand.
  - 3 There were a lot of big supermarkets.
  - 4 Angie sometimes listened to records.
  - 5 Angie played with computer games.
  - 6 Clothes were less formal in the 1950s.

AUDIOSCRIPT

Presenter: Life has changed a lot since the 1950s. Then there was no Internet or mobile phones. But was there any technology then? What was life really like in Britain in the 50s? Today we're going to talk to Angie Parnwell, who was a teenager in the 1950s. Angie, what do you remember about technology in the 50s?

Angie: Well, there was technology in the 1950s but it was basic. Most houses didn't use to have telephones but there were cookers and radios – although in my house we didn't have a radio. My mum used to do the washing by hand as we didn't have a washing machine. There weren't big supermarkets either so when people went shopping they used to go to lots of different shops to get their food. My mum and dad used to take a long time to go round all the shops!

Presenter: And what about free time?

Angie: Well, people spent their free time in a different way too as there were no home computers and people didn't use to watch a lot of television. If we wanted to listen to music we had a record player. Children didn't have computer games so we spent a lot of time outside playing with our friends.

Presenter: And what did people wear back then?

Angie: Clothes were different too. The clothes I wore were more formal and less colourful. There were a lot of browns and greys in 1950s' clothes.

Presenter: Thanks Angie. That's been really interesting ...

Listening

- 1  <sup>19</sup> Cover the audioscript. Listen to the dialogue between James and Anna about the film Invictus. Mark the sentences J if James gives the opinion, A if Anna gives the opinion or B if both of them give the opinion.

- 1 Morgan Freeman was excellent in the film.
- 2 Matt Damon doesn't act very well.
- 3 Matt Damon does a good South African accent.
- 4 It is difficult for an actor to act as a sportsman.
- 5 Matt Damon went to the gym to prepare for the film.
- 6 It's an amazing story.
- 7 Clint Eastwood is a great director.

AUDIOSCRIPT

James: Have you seen the Clint Eastwood film about Mandela and the Rugby World Cup?

Anna: Yeah, I saw it last week.

James: I just saw it yesterday. What did you think?

Anna: Well, I didn't know anything about the Rugby World Cup and the film taught me a lot about that and about South Africa. For instance, I didn't know that rugby was really only played by whites and that there was only one black player on the national team at the time.

James: Yeah, Chester Williams. And he nearly missed the match because he was injured.

Anna: It's such a great story! And I thought Morgan Freeman was excellent as usual.

James: I think so too. I think he was very convincing as Mandela. What did you think of Matt Damon as Pienaar, the rugby captain?

Anna: Well, in my opinion this was the weak part of the film. Well, I don't think Damon acts very well in the film. He doesn't seem very real as a rugby player.

James: I don't agree. I think it is very difficult to act as a sportsman if you aren't one. And I think he does an OK job. And his South African accent is very good.

Anna: Well, I'm not sure I agree with you there, but he does look very big in the film.

James: Yes, apparently he was in the gym a lot before he started acting.

Anna: The thing that I thought was most incredible was the fact that South Africa won the World Cup as well, when most people thought they weren't going to win. It's an amazing story.

James: Yes, absolutely amazing ...

Anna: And Clint Eastwood is a great director. I wonder what his next film will be about.

Reading

6 Read the interview about the perfect city and mark the sentences true (T), false (F) or no information (NI).

- 1 The perfect city is not by the sea.
- 2 There should be places for people to ice-skate in the city in the winter.
- 3 There are small avenues in the perfect city.
- 4 In the perfect city you can pay for bicycles on the corner of big streets.
- 5 The perfect city has an airport quite near the centre.
- 6 Restaurants in the perfect city should only offer food from the country the city is in.
- 7 A perfect city has lots of big sports stadiums.

Interviewer: The perfect city doesn't exist. But if you could design the perfect city, what would it be like? Well here to tell us is Sean Richards, an expert on town planning. Sean, tell us about the perfect city.

Sean:

Well, first of all it would be on the coast. There are some great cities which are not by the sea, but in general people love the influence the sea brings to a city. They also love being able to go to the beach! It would also have mountains nearby – great for walking trips or even skiing in the winter.

Interviewer: OK, that is the location. But what does it look like?

Sean:

The perfect city should be a mix of big wide avenues and small, old side streets. It should also have squares for people to sit down and enjoy a drink in the sunshine. In the perfect city I'd like areas only for pedestrians, if possible in the city centre. Apart from streets for cars, cities should have wide pavements for people to walk down and bicycle paths for people to cycle on. There should be free bicycles too, which people can collect at the corner of big streets – because cycling is a cheap and healthy way to travel. An underground train and a good bus service are also vital because people need to be able to travel quickly to their jobs. There should be an airport a maximum of thirty minutes from the city centre.

Interviewer: And what about entertainment in the city?

Sean:

Well, a perfect city must have museums and art galleries with important works of art. I'd also need theatres and cinemas, pubs and restaurants which offer different types of cuisine from all over the world. There should be green spaces too, with lots of areas for children to play in and places for people to play sports in too.

Interviewer: OK, Sean, just one question. Is all this possible?

Sean:

Perhaps not, but you all probably know a city with at least some of these characteristics.

- 1 The left hand shows personality.
- 2 Palmists think that the life line shows physical health.
- 3 The life line can show an accident.
- 4 The heart line finishes under the thumb.
- 5 The head line is always separate from the life line.
- 6 The fate line represents things that the person controls.

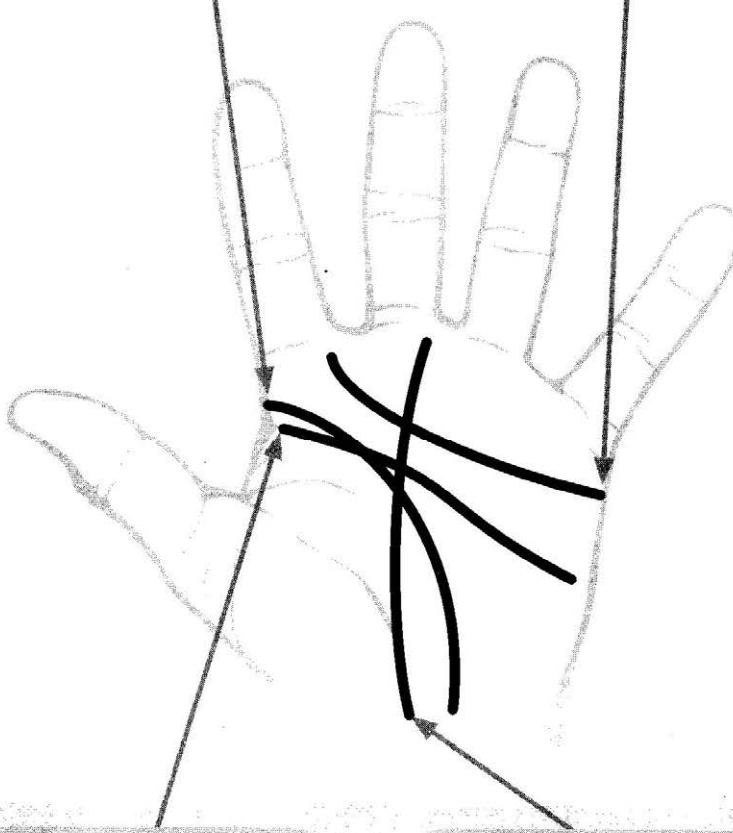

- c Correct the sentences which are false.

Palm Reading

First, which hand to read? Some people think that the left hand shows the potential of the person and the right shows the personality. Some people think it is better to read a woman's left hand and a man's right hand. Whichever hand you read, the most important thing to look for are lines. These are the most important lines: the life line, the heart line, the head line and the fate line.

The life line extends from the edge of the palm above the thumb and goes in a curve down to the wrist. Palmists (people who read palms) believe that this line represents the person's physical health and general well being. It can also show important events in a person's life, like an accident or a physical problem. A lot of palmists think that it shows how long a person will live.

The heart line is at the top of the palm, under the fingers. It normally finishes at the end of the palm under the little finger. Palmists think that this line represents the heart and it shows emotions and romance.

The head line starts at the end of the palm under the index finger and goes across the palm and normally finishes at halfway down the palm. Often the head line joins with the life line. This line represents the person's mind and the way it works.

Another important line is the fate line. It runs from the bottom of the palm near the wrist, up through the centre of the palm towards the middle finger. This line is connected to the life path. Some palmists think that this line reflects things that the person cannot control.

AUDIOSCRIPT

Woman: So what is Shiatsu?

Man: Well, it's a type of massage. It's like acupuncture because it believes that there are channels of energy. You press on different points on the body and the energy moves around better.

Woman: I see. Where is it from?

Man: Shiatsu is a Japanese massage, but now you can have Shiatsu treatments in many countries.

Woman: Right. And what happens in a typical session?

Man: First, the Shiatsu practitioner asks you questions about your health, and your problem. Then he gives you a massage to relax the muscles. Lastly, he presses points on your body. He usually uses his hands, but sometimes he uses his arms, elbows, knees and feet.

Woman: His feet? OK. So what problems can it treat?

Man: It's very good for problems like backache, stomachache and headache, but it works for other problems too.

Woman: That's good. How long does it take?

Man: Each session usually takes about an hour.

Woman: An hour. And do patients feel better after one hour?

Man: Actually, no. Some patients will feel worse at the beginning. Sometimes they need two, three or more sessions before they feel better.

Jai Alai

The fastest sport in the world?

A lot of people think that the fastest sport in the world is Jai Alai. This is a sport which originated in the Basque region of France and Spain (where it is called Pelota Vasca) and spread to the United States, Mexico and other countries. It is very popular in Florida, especially in Miami. Jai Alai players play on a court which has three walls, front, back and left. Players play individually or in doubles games like in tennis. Jai Alai players use a cesta or basket to catch and throw a very hard ball at the front wall. When one player hits the wall with the ball, the other player must catch the ball before it bounces or after one bounce. After catching the ball the player has to throw the ball back at the wall with the cesta. If the player doesn't catch the ball after one bounce, the other player or team gets a point. The first team to score seven points is the winner. Because the ball is so hard and it can travel at speeds of nearly 300 kmh, Jai Alai is dangerous. Players wear helmets to protect their heads from the ball. Apart from the helmet, players wear a coloured shirt and belt and long trousers. It can be an expensive sport as players pay about $200 for a cesta and they often use 15 cestas in one season.

- 7 Sarah was very happy at the end of the day.

AUDIOSCRIPT

I got married at the end of March this year, and it was a really lovely day. The weather was quite nice for the time of year, and we didn't have any rain to spoil our photographs! We were a bit unusual because we chose to get married on a Sunday afternoon – traditionally weddings in the UK are on a Saturday.

My day started early, at about 9 o'clock, because I had to have my breakfast and then have my hair and make-up done. My hair took more than two hours! It was boring just sitting there watching the hairdresser, but also quite nice to have some time to just relax.

The wedding itself was at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and by about 3:30 I was starting to get really nervous. Would everyone like my dress? Would I fall over as I walked down the aisle? Would my husband-to-be be late?!

Luckily none of those things happened, and everything was perfect! My face hurt from smiling by the end of the day, but I couldn't have asked for a better day – or a better husband!

A common time for weddings in Japan is the spring or autumn and they often take place in a hotel or a wedding hall. A Japanese wedding normally lasts all day and often begins with a religious ceremony. There are different religions in Japan so there are different types of weddings too: Christian, Buddhist and Shinto weddings are all common. Brides often wear traditional white kimonos with a big headpiece and the groom normally wears black.

The guests at a Japanese wedding normally dress formally. Women often wear kimonos and men wear dark suits. Usually only close family members attend the religious ceremony. At the ceremony the couple drink sake and often give each other rings. After the ceremony it is typical for the couple to change clothes before the wedding reception. Japanese wedding receptions are often big celebrations and there are sometimes hundreds of guests.

If you receive an invitation to a Japanese wedding you should reply as soon as possible. It is common for guests to give the couple a gift of money. The money is normally put inside a special envelope with the name of the person giving the present on the front.

Red and white are happy, lucky colours for weddings in Japan and sometimes the food served at the celebrations has these colours. The cutting of the cake is an important moment in Japanese wedding celebrations. Often the top parts of the cake are made of plastic or paper.

Sometimes there is a break in the reception for the bride and groom to change their clothes again. After the meal it is common for the younger guests to continue the celebrations with a band or a DJ.

- 3 Eric swam the minimum time before the Olympic Games.
- 4 Eric trained in a 50-metre pool before the Olympic Games.
- 5 Everyone in Equatorial Guinea thinks that Eric is a hero.
- 6 Eric had to train in the sea after the Olympic Games.

The Slowest Swimmer in Sydney

Olympic swimmers are normally fast, very fast – but this is not always true. In 2000 Eric Mussambani represented Equatorial Guinea in the Olympic Games in Sydney. He swam in the 100 metres freestyle event. His time? One minute fifty-two seconds. The winner of the final, Pieter van den Hoogenband swam the distance in forty-seven seconds, a difference of more than a minute! But how did such a slow swimmer enter the swimming competition in the Olympic Games?

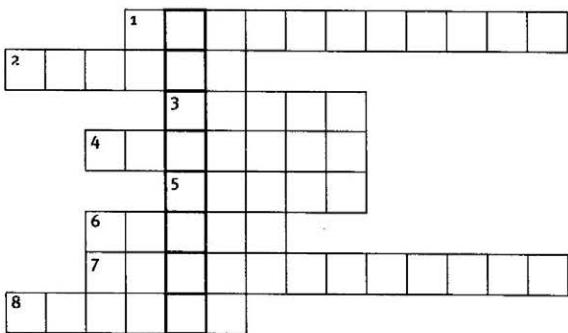

Normally swimmers have to swim a minimum time before entering the competition. However, some swimmers were allowed to compete without swimming the minimum time and Eric was one of those swimmers. He even found it difficult to complete the 100 metre race in the 50-metre Olympic pool. 'The last 20 metres was very hard,' he said. 'I didn't think I was going to be able to finish. I had never seen a 50-metre pool before. All my training was in the only pool in my country which is in a hotel. It's 20 metres long.'

For some people Eric is a hero because he shows that winning isn't the only important thing in sport. But for many people in his country he is definitely not a hero. A lot of Guineans think that he has made the country look stupid by competing so badly. 'When I got off the plane, the only people to meet me at the airport were my parents. Some people in my country are rude to me. I don't understand it. I can't even train in the hotel any more. They won't let me swim there. I have to train in the sea.'

AUDIOSCRIPT

M = Melanie I = Ivan

M: I read hundreds of CVs every week. Most of them are good. A few are excellent. And about five percent of them are terrible.

I: Really? What makes a bad CV?

M: There are a number of things. A CV should be short. No more than two pages long. I recently read a CV that was twenty pages long.

I: Unbelievable.

M: But usually the problems are quite simple.

I: What type of things?

M: Spelling mistakes. People who write their CV with a pen, not on computer. But the worst thing is that twenty-five percent of CVs are not true.

I: What do you mean?

M: People tell lies. They say they have certain qualifications and we find that they don't have them.

I: So what advice can you give about writing a CV?

M: Read the advert carefully. Learn as much as possible about the job. Then write a new CV specially for this job. Write it on a computer and only write what is important for this job.

I: Are there any imaginative or interesting ideas that work?

M: There was a woman from Denmark who applied for a job in an office. She sent some Danish food with her CV to remind us that she was from Denmark. And she got the job.

- 4 Chris had an interview with the director of the marketing department.
- 5 The director of the marketing department was late for the interview.
- 6 Jim Stevens applied for a job as a managing director.
- 7 Jim waited for three hours for the interview to start.
- 8 The interviewer wasn't very interested in Jim.
- 9 Jim finished the interview and left.
- 10 Jim's interview tells us something important about interviews.

This week our jobs expert, Neil Harrison, tells us about some bad interview experiences.

We all know that in a job interview we should try to make a good impression. We should be careful with what we wear and try not to appear nervous. Our body language can also be important. How should I sit? What should I do with my hands? But one thing we can't really do anything about is what the interviewer does. Sometimes interviewers like to ask difficult or strange questions to test an interviewee or they can even be rude. Here are some examples of some strange interviewers sent in to us by our readers.

Jane Simmons, a sales rep who went for an interview for an important sales job was introduced to five interviewers. Quite common to have an interview with more than one interviewer, she thought. What wasn't so common was for the interviewers to ask the same questions one after the other!

Chris Ray applied for a job in a marketing company which was advertised in his local newspaper. He arrived with his CV, ready for the interview with the director of the marketing department. The only problem was that the director of the marketing department didn't arrive for the interview!

Jim Stevens filled in the application form for a job in a big company as a secretary to the managing director. When he went for the interview he waited for three and a half hours before the interviewer arrived. The interviewer didn't seem too interested in Jim either. He repeated several times that this type of company didn't need Jim, but Jim needed the company. In the end, Jim got up and left the interview before it had finished. 'I realised halfway through the interview that I didn't want to work in that company.' Perhaps the example of Jim's interview tells us something important. If you go for an interview and you don't get a good impression of the company then maybe it isn't the type of company you want to work for.

Reading

7 Read the news story about a British criminal and mark the statements true (T) or false (F).

Britain's oldest criminal has just been released from prison.

James Morton is a grandfather who has spent more than half his life in prison. However, last week, after he was released, Morton promised he wouldn't go back again. 'This job is getting too difficult,' he said. 'Everywhere you go there are TV cameras, on the street, in shops and in banks.'

Morton was first sent to prison in 1955, when he was sentenced by a judge to three years for being part of a gang that was robbing houses. The last time he was sent to prison was also for robbery, this time for robbing a bank. He was in prison for seven years for this crime. When giving him the sentence, judge Alfred Underwood told him: 'You are a career criminal. If you don't change your ways, you will die in prison.'

In total Morton has been in sixteen different prisons for fifty-four different crimes, the most serious being the last one. His favourite prison is Yorkshire Central Prison. 'The food there is great,' he said. The worst, the Greater London Prison. According to Morton it's extremely small and there is no room for proper exercise.

Outside the prison on the day of his release Morton said he wanted to spend more time with his five children and seven grandchildren. He has told them all about the dangers of a life of crime. Unfortunately they haven't all listened. His oldest grandchild was arrested by the police last year for stealing a car.

- 3 Use the correct type of transport to complete the comments.

This week we are inviting our bloggers to tell us all about how they get to work.

Riding a (1) _____ is the best way to get about in the city. I bought my first one a few years ago and haven't looked back. Because it's not as fast as a motorbike it's not as dangerous, but you don't have to pedal like you do when riding a bike. It's also quick as you don't get stuck in the traffic.

I don't go anywhere without my (2) _____. I had a moped but it was too slow and I didn't want to get a car because getting to work would take too long with all the traffic. If the weather's bad I sometimes get a bit wet!

I have to take the (3) _____ to get across the river every day. It's very slow but I like that because it gives me time to read the paper. If the weather is good I can go outside and watch the birds on the water. I sometimes see fish too, but there aren't too many as the river is very dirty.

In my line of work I have to use my (4) _____. I need to transport things around the city. I deliver to a lot of different shops and I have a lot of space in the back. It's obviously bigger than a car, so it can be quite slow in traffic and difficult to park. But without it, I couldn't do my job.

I always ride my (5) _____ to work. I love being able to move between the traffic and I get to do some exercise every day. It's awful when it rains though!

If I need to get somewhere quick in the city, I take a (6) _____. It's more expensive than the bus but it takes me exactly where I want to go. I also like talking to the drivers. They normally have some funny stories to tell about the city.

Because of my job I have to take (7) _____ a lot. Normally I take short flights across the country because I have to visit the different offices we have. I used to like flying but now I find it really boring, especially all the waiting at the airport.

I take the (8) _____ to work most days. There's a stop around the corner from my house and the journey only takes five minutes.

AUDIOSCRIPT

Advice 1: The Americans tend to be very punctual in business. For any business meeting, you should arrive on time, or even early. If you know that you'll be late, you should telephone and tell someone about your delay.

Advice 2: When people meet for business, they usually introduce themselves by shaking hands. When you shake hands, don't press too hard, or too lightly. A firm handshake is best.

Advice 3: People don't always exchange business cards when they meet. But if you need contact information, it is OK to ask a colleague for their card. It is also OK to offer someone your card. But you don't have to exchange cards, as in some cultures.

Advice 4: It's important not to offer money or other presents as a way to help finalise a business deal.

Reading

- 8 Read the texts about Australia and Mexico and mark the sentences (1–8) A if it is true for Australia and M if it is true for Mexico.

Mexico

In general, Mexicans are happy, friendly people who like to have a good time, but that doesn't mean that there aren't things to remember when visiting the country. For example, if you are invited to a Mexican's house, it is a good idea to bring a gift like flowers or sweets. It is also a good idea to arrive late if a Mexican invites you to their home. Generally Mexicans arrive at least thirty minutes late to such an invitation. In fact if you arrive on time, it might be considered rude. If invited for dinner it is good manners to wait for the hostess to start before you start eating. When doing business with Mexicans, always arrive on time, even if your Mexican contacts arrive late. Also, Mexicans prefer face-to-face negotiations to telephone conversations or communicating by email.

Australia

In general, Australians are relaxed friendly people. It is typical for Australians to say 'G'day' when meeting someone. If you are invited to an Australian's house it is a good idea to take a present like a box of chocolates to the hostess. You might be invited to a 'barbie' (a barbecue outside in someone's garden). If you are, it is typical to take your own drinks. Your hosts might even ask you to bring your own meat! If you are invited to dinner, you should arrive on time. When you are eating your dinner, don't put your elbows on the table and keep your hands above the table. If you do business with Australians, be punctual. In business Australians can be quite direct and you should be direct too.

- 1 It is better to meet people face-to-face than to communicate by email.
- 2 Be direct if you are doing business.
- 3 Don't arrive on time for invitations to someone's house.
- 4 Take flowers as a present if you are invited to someone's home.
- 5 Don't start eating at dinner until the hostess starts eating.
- 6 Be punctual if you are invited to dinner.
- 7 When eating dinner, don't put your elbows on the table.

Paola: So how's your son Will doing at school?

Lucas: Well, you know how he's a bit serious and always worried about his classes. The teacher's very strict this year so he always tries to do his work as well as possible. Anyway, he got into trouble on Friday with his homework.

Paola: Why, hadn't he finished his homework?

Lucas: Well, I thought he had finished everything, but he hadn't done his maths homework. And you know that maths is the subject he has most trouble with. Anyway, when he got to school on Friday morning, the teacher hadn't started the class. So he took out his books and started to do the homework in the class. Unfortunately he had left his maths books at home. He asked one of his friends Jake for the book but Jake hadn't brought the book to school either. Anyway, the teacher saw he hadn't done his homework and gave him double homework for the next day...

b Listen and check your answers.

c Listen again and check the intonation of how Lucas says anyway.

Mentoring Programme for Schools in Auckland

Are you interested in helping children with problems at school? Do you think you have what it takes to be a mentor? If your answer to these questions is yes, read on:

Our Big Helper mentoring programme has been in operation in Auckland for ten years. Every year we are looking for adult mentors for secondary school children aged between twelve and sixteen. Each mentor is normally assigned five students to help. The areas which the students most commonly need help are: reading, writing, mathematics and social skills.

What does a mentor have to do?

Before starting, mentors have to attend a training period of a week. Once the school year starts every mentor needs to attend a group session with his/her students at least once a week. Individual tutoring may also be necessary but this would be a maximum of one hour a week. New mentors receive help from our experienced mentor team.

- 4 Read the advert about becoming a mentor and mark the sentences (1–6) true (T) or false (F).

- 1 The children the mentors work with are up to eighteen years old.
- 2 Mentors usually work with groups of three students.
- 3 Mathematics is one of the subjects that mentors help students with.
- 4 Mentors might have to do individual tutoring of students
- 5 John improved at maths after working with his mentor.
- 6 Richard improved at science very quickly.
- 7 Teachers are often good mentors.
- 8 If you have worked in business, you can't be a mentor.

How do students feel about mentors?

John from Ponsoby said, 'Having a mentor really helped my grades. I was never good at maths but I started passing my exams after working with my mentor.' Richard from Grey Lynn improved his science grades, 'I started to understand science for the first time in my life. It wasn't easy but I slowly started to improve.'

What skills do I need?

Almost anyone can be a mentor. Obviously people with experience in teaching can make excellent mentors, but we are also interested in hearing from people with experience in business. Basically, mentors should be positive role models for the children, so anyone who can fill this role can be a good mentor.

If you are interested in applying, please contact 09-379-8046 or send us an email at mpsa@mail.com.

- 7 People still listen to the Rolling Stones today.

AUDIOSCRIPT

Presenter: They are one of the most successful groups in history and are still selling records today. Here to tell us more about the Rolling Stones and their influence on modern music is Stones expert, Lars Richards. Lars, why was and is the Rolling Stones' influence so important?

Lars: Well, from their early days it was obvious that the Stones would be something important in the music industry. Evidence of this was that they were one of the first British groups to have huge success in the United States, after the Beatles had had success there.

Presenter: Ah, yes the Beatles. Surely the Beatles have had more influence than the Stones?

Lars: Yes, in general you're probably right. But the Stones also had huge success in Britain and the States after they visited there in the early 60s. The Stones also borrowed from the musical culture of America by incorporating the sound of the Blues into their music. Some people think that the Stones have always been the more dangerous version of British rock. This has resulted in many groups trying to copy the sound of the Stones but it is a difficult thing to do.

Presenter: So, give us the three most important reasons why you think the Stones are so important.

Lars: Three reasons ... hmm OK well, firstly, they have written some of the most important songs in the history of rock like Paint it Black and Satisfaction. Secondly, they have played together for nearly fifty years and last of all they have sold more than 200 million records. And these are the reasons which make the Rolling Stones the greatest rock and roll band in the world.

- 1 Read the text about Dale Carnegie and mark the statements (1–7) true (T) or false (F).

Dale Carnegie – influencing people

Dale Carnegie was an American writer who wrote one of the most famous books of the twentieth century, How to Win Friends and Influence People.

He was born Dale Carnagey in 1888 in Missouri. His family were poor farmers and after working on the family farm milking cows as a boy, he went to study at a teaching college. After leaving college his first real job was as a salesman selling bacon. He was very successful at this but he had always wanted to be an actor so he gave up his job and moved to New York to follow this dream. It was in New York that he started giving classes in public speaking. These classes soon became very popular and he began to make a lot of money. He also started writing about ways that people can improve their self-confidence. In the 1930s his most famous book, How to Win Friends and Influence People, was published. The book has sold more than 15 million copies worldwide. In it Carnegie describes ways to get people to do what you want them to do and how to deal with people so that they feel important. Carnegie died in 1955 but his books and ideas are still very popular today and people in seventy-five countries continue to do Carnegie courses.

The most honest boy in Britain

1 Nathan Gittings is the most honest boy in Britain. Nathan was standing at a bus stop when he found over £10,000 in cash in two shopping bags. At first he didn't do anything. He thought that if he waited someone would return for them and he would give them back. But the following day, the bags were still there. Nathan picked them up and ran home. He showed his mother what he had found and called the police. Nathan said, 'I couldn't believe it when I found the money. I'd never seen that much in my life. But it wasn't mine so I knew I had to hand it in.' The Gwent police were happy and surprised at Nathan's honesty. It was discovered later that the money belonged to a 'confused man'. It was his life savings.

The most honest woman in Britain

20 A woman who didn't pay for her train ticket returned to the station and paid for it ... fifty years later. The woman, now in her sixties, said she was late when she arrived at the station in 1950. She ran into the station and jumped onto the train. If she could have bought a ticket on the train she would have but no one came to sell or check tickets that day. Fifty years later the woman wrote a letter and sent a cheque to First North Western Railway Company. A single ticket is now £69 so she sent a cheque for £70. She had recently become religious and wanted to be honest about her past. The money will be given to charity.

Complete the advice with the words from the box.

afford borrow earn lend owe save spend winning withdraw

There are lots of people who can't (1) _____ luxuries and expensive things but who live well enough. True, they probably don't (2) _____ very much money for the future but they don't really have money problems. And there are also a lot of people who do have money problems who don't need to have these problems. Today I'm going to give some simple advice to help these people.

Well, first, try not to (3) _____ money from friends or from banks. And if you need to, try to make sure that what you pay back is never more than ten percent of what you (4) _____ in your job. And if you do (5) _____ money to someone, make sure that paying this money back is your number one priority. Whatever the amount is, you should pay this off at the beginning of the month and plan the rest of the month after this. Oh, and just as important, if you don't have much money, don't (6) _____ money to anyone! Also, try to go to the cashpoint once a week and (7) _____ the same amount of money every week. That way you won't (8) _____ more than that. And I know some people dream of (9) _____ the lottery, but that's not that likely, is it? So don't waste your money on lottery tickets!

Reading

1 Read the story and choose the best title.

- The Student With a Car.
- Paying for Accommodation as a Student.
- A Student With a Serious Debt.

A man from New Jersey who has finally passed his final university exams will not be able to start working as a lawyer. This is because John Francis, who is forty-six, owes more than half a million dollars in student loans. Yes, that's right – more than $500,000!

How did he get in debt for such a large amount of money? Well, he was studying at university for twenty-five years! In that time he studied various university courses, one of which was law. He also had to pay for accommodation all this time as a student. Part of the student debt went on a car as he had to drive to university from where he lived.

The bad news is that to start to pay back the student loan he needs a job that will pay him more than $250,000 a year. He said that he was going to do his best to find a job like this but that he thought it would be difficult. 'Who's going to give me a job like that when I don't have any experience?' he complained. 'I'm also too old for a lot of companies.' He said that he really wanted to continue studying but that he couldn't find a bank that would lend him any more money.

2 Read the story again and answer the questions (1–6).

- 1 How old is John Francis?
- 2 How much money does John Francis owe?
- 3 How long did he study for?
- 4 Why did John Francis have a car?
- 5 Why does he think it is going to be difficult for him to find a job?
- 6 Why can't Francis continue studying?

Reading

- 5 Read the text and mark the sentences true (T) or false (F).

Everyone knows that Americans love sports and that one of the most popular sports in America is baseball. But most people outside America don't know that a lot of Americans love collecting baseball cards – that is, cards with pictures of famous baseball players. Some baseball fans and collectors in America pay a lot of money for these cards, especially if they are old and when they are in good condition.

So how much will a collector pay for these cards? A lot of money. Some of the most expensive cards in history include one of Ty Cobb which was printed in 1914 and which sold for $100,000. Another card on the most expensive list is one of Joe Jackson from 1910. This card can be sold for between $100,000 and $200,000 if it is in good condition.

Another expensive card was one of perhaps the most famous baseball player in history, Babe Ruth. It was sold for $500,000. The card was printed in 1914 and shows Babe Ruth with the words Ruth Pitcher (the pitcher is the player who throws the ball in baseball).

But the most expensive baseball card in history is one showing Honus Wagner, a player from the beginning of the twentieth century. The card of Wagner was sold for more than two million dollars. One reason it is so valuable is that very few of these cards were made.

- 1 Collectors pay a lot of money for baseball cards in good condition.
- 2 A card of Ty Cobb printed in 1916 sold for $100,000.
- 3 A card of Ruth Pitcher sold for $500,000.
- 4 The most expensive card in history is a card of Honus Wagner.
- 5 Honus Wagner played baseball at the beginning of this century.
- 6 Not many of the Honus Wagner cards were made.

- 4 Rob and Zeinab don't like reading.
- 5 Zeinab wants to read poetry in Spanish.
- 6 They have listening CDs from their Spanish course.

AUDIOSCRIPT

R = Rob Z = Zeinab

R: Zeinab, are you going to continue with your Spanish?

Z: Oh yes, definitely.

R: How? What are you going to do?

Z: That's a good question. I've got lots of ideas. I've got a Spanish friend and we write emails to each other. We always wrote in English, but now we can write in Spanish.

R: That's great.

Z: And I'm hoping to visit her in Madrid too, so I can practise my Spanish. What about you?

R: I want to find someone to do a conversation exchange.

Z: What's that?

R: Conversation exchange? It's when you find, say, a Spanish person who wants to improve their English. Then you meet. And you speak together for half an hour in English and half an hour in Spanish.

Z: That's a good idea.

R: Yeah. I hope I can find someone at a language school.

Z: Do you read much?

R: Yeah, I like reading.

Z: I want to try reading books in Spanish.

R: What type?

Z: I'm going to try short novels or children's books. Maybe newspapers too.

R: Good idea. And there's always the Internet. There are lots of websites for language learners.

Z: That's true. And CDs too, to improve your listening.

R: Yeah, we've got the CDs from the course.

(1) Hi Jim, I just had a terrible week. First I argued (2) with my parents because I was playing (3) with the dog and she broke an expensive vase. I apologised (4) for breaking it, but my parents said I had to pay (5) for the vase. I didn't have any money, so I applied (6) for a job in a restaurant in town. I even had to borrow $10 (7) from my brother to get the bus. He didn't want to lend money (8) to me because he says he has to wait (9) for weeks to get it back. Anyway ...
